Ignacio Borello
Programming Technician

Personal

Name: Ignacio Borello

Birthday: 27 May 1997 (20)

Nationality: Argentinian

Telephone: +54 351 505-8344

Email: ignacio.borello@gmail.com

About Me

Programming Technician and Computer Engineering Student working right now for XRP developing web applications based on angularJs.

I'm very passionate about tecnology and I have good knowledge about PC hardaware and it's maintainance as well as many tools for software developement either for backend or frontend. I'm always looking forward to get my field of work bigger and learn new skills.

Technologies

- HTML5/CSS3
- Django
- AngularJS
- Android
- RESTful
- Java
- Python
- Javascript
- C++
- MySQL

Work

Internship
Vates

An internship in Vates (vates.com) working as a back-end developer in a Django project. This project consisted in a management system for a medical center where the MVC structure was used alognsied Django and som AngularJs on the front-end.

Software Developer
XRP (current)

Working for about 2 years in XRP (xrp.net) as a front-end developer focusing on AngularJs as well as the Echarts library and the Google Map API in various projects, as well as the design of the user interface with a strong influence of Materia Design.

Education

High school
ITS Villada

Graduated as a Programming Technician with knowledge in machinning, woodworking, electric installations, electronics and 4 years of trainning in software developement as well as agile methodology

English Academy
WorldLink

Graduated with honors with a C1 level in English and scoring 986 in the TOEIC exam.

Computer Engineering
National University of Cordoba (Current)

Currently studying Computer Engineering

Skills

- Problem Solving
- Communication
- UX/UI Design
- Independent
- Versatility
- Creativity